REMINDER

Friday 13th November—Children In Need

'Feel Good Friday' - Children to come in their PE kits so they can join in a very special challenge with Joe Wicks and Children in Need. Donations of £1 or £2 welcome.

Pudsey t-shirts and ears are permitted.

Keeping Safe

Class 6 Year 1 have been learning about keeping safe on bonfire night this week,

They created their own firework pictures. Don't they look fantastic?

Y3 Y4 Roman Day (Take 2)

Year 3 and 4 children got to dress up again for Roman Day on Wednesday. They all looked just as good second time round but this time they got to take part in all the fun activities their teachers had planned.

The children were given Roman names, they designed and made aqueducts and enjoyed a Roman feast.

Some children in Class 13 carried out an investigation 'Did Romans use toilet roll?'

Hartburn Birthdays

By Emily Murphy—Head Girl

As the second lockdown has come into play, we all know that seeing relatives or friends outside of school is not allowed.

To help celebrate your child's birthday and still let them have a face-to-face party, we at Hartburn have decided to have a party each week with different bubbles in separate areas.

Remembrance Day

By Autumn Burke—Deputy Head Girl

Remembrance Day is such an important day of the year. Selling poppies helps raise funds for amazing and unique equipment. This Sunday is Remembrance Day so we will gladly remember our brave heroes.

We have been selling poppies and other items in school. Remember we should think about why we sell poppies and how it helps.

STOCKTON CHILDREN'S BOOK OF THE YEAR

This year, Mrs Goodwin's English class is going to be involved in Stockton Children's Book of the Year. We have five exciting novels to read between now and March and we are really looking forward to it! We would recommend these books for Year 5 and Year 6 children. Look out for our reviews of these in the future!

New Bubbles

by Lewis Rogers—Deputy Head Boy

We have new smaller bubbles to lower the risk of getting Covid-19 and to reduce the risk of children being sent home to learn by 50%. We also have different colours for each year group's toilet, sinks, etc. so all the children are separated from other year groups. There are new toilet passes to make sure there is not a bottle neck of people waiting to use the toilets. We really like still having hot lunches in the hall and we can still play with all of our friends in the same year group outside. We can still move to other areas in school for breaks and lunch times so it still feels like a normal school day which we all really like!

Well Done Class 1 !

Class 1 have been practising every day and now ..... we can all fasten our coats without any help!

US Elections

By Evan Linacre—Head Boy

In America this week, the US election are taking place. Donald Trump (the President of the United States of America) will be battling against Joe Biden for the role of President of the United States of America. The result will be announced in a few days time. Donald Trump thinks he will win and Biden hopes he will overtake Trump as President in the coming days. Nobody knows the outcome but we will soon find out.

Writers' Corner

The Search an extract of narrative by Emily Murphy, Year 6.

Emerging from the inky darkness of the Anderson shelter, I blinked and squinted in the early morning sunlight as my eyes adjusted to the sudden glow. The scene below was awful. A cloying stench of smoke filled the air, a blanket of greying acidity, engulfing the skeletal foundations of homes. Once a hub of activity, the street was filled with an abundance of rubble, causing adults and children alike to stumble and fall in the sea of shards of glass, brick and furniture. My hometown had been utterly emaciated.

I trudged wearily towards the front door of our house, as it clung on to its hinges. The lack of familiar faces was somewhat unnerving, and I struggled to recognise my relatives in the crowd of mumbling, trembling people with pallid complexions and darting eyes, searching for a crumb of happiness in these desolate surroundings.

"Mother?" I called. My voice rang out eerily in the silence, shaking and wavering with suppressed emotion.

Why do squirrels hide their nuts ?

Early Years children have been collecting Autumn treasures this week and have been trying to find the answer to the question "Why do squirrels hide their nuts?"

We will let you know what we discover, after a little bit more research next week!
